As a sentient life force perception is irrelevant, for all is one; as a sentient life form, perception is relevant to form, with each form perceiving matter relative to thought form manifestations essential to form sustenance. Purpose for Sentient Life Force is Aether Fusion Continuum, perpetual ascension; Purpose for Sentient life form is matter transmutation and form transcendence beyond matter into Sentient Life Force infinite thought form relative to form sustenance

The Tangible inferences of personality permeates the Aether to submit matter to form; form vibrates the heart in the frequency of the mind to reason the logic of matter; matter is the tangible reality of being; emotion is the rhythm of being that manifests individuality into a singular soul. The Aether is the singularity of the One Mind Supreme and the purpose of being; It is The very Essence of the fabric of the Omniverse that transcends all space and time.

Music and any art is Aether manifest Matter; In order for us to reach the heights of our Celestial Beings we must fulfill the total capacity of our duty and responsibilities of humanity as compassionate stewards of this realm and that is the beginning of the knowledge of God's Patience and Mercy.

Music is the sound of the spirit in its physical manifestation; the adept mind can make a distinction between the dissonant parallels to see its form

Ultra Consciousness ~ Kosmic Celestial Awareness

What is Life?

What is life but a love story? Everything living and Ascended or descended is part of that love story; from the Divine perspectives every living sentient being is a product of love whether you refer to the science of reproduction or the gathering of Kosmic forces and energy, we all are products of Divine Union. If people could focus on the love story, not to any faults or defaults but simply Realizing that the essence of reality that brought us all into the consciousness of being is A Divine love story perhaps we would each individually think differently about our purpose. Even if the circumstances surrounding our coming into being is or was troublesome or controversial, one might view or get a better inner standing of at least a clue of why we exist, regardless of the tempest of temperaments and ego trips we may face or journey Through. Life is to be lived right now... embrace the moment of your now and contemplate the spark of Divine inspiration that germinated The seed to manifest the flesh to house the living Soul that you are; ponder the kosmic forces that came into the balance of thoughts that created you...all have gender, polarity, Vibrations, laws etc.,etc

But the greatest of these is love (lifetimes of valuable Experiences). On our way back to our Infinite Celestial Destiny, while we are here, let us consider the singularity Of our individual time-space continuums to the balance of oneness that reverberates throughout time from that Original Spark That ignited the flame that is each and every one of us.

The Goal On Earth is To Absorb And Transcend Not to Conform but to Transform back Into A Kosmic State Of Mind

The cultural dynamics of The KosmOriginals spans the Kosmoverse; yet does the media construct reinforce stereotypes that paints a picture of bleak and dismal despair that fails to tell the wholeness of the story...one merely has to peer through the mists of misinformation and misfortune to see the Glory Of our greatness through the eyes of the talented Titans that have conquered the world with the innovation of Master wordsmithing, digital dialogues, beat bombastics, and Global Stage Command.

Tribal Wars have snuffed out the living spark of some of our most luminous firebrands; others lost to the cyclical sifrs of time and human nature but the eternal flames of their light rages on even as we have shed silent tears for their ascending. The God of our weary years has indeed led us thus far on our way as the Songwriter poet has scribed so we may truly lift every voice and sing till earth and heaven ring with the harmonies of liberty

The paradox of duality triggers a binary emotional response; either you like something or you don't--good versus evil, hot and cold etc, etc. This is The feeding and the starving of the ego relative to personal orientation. For example if we discuss things that happened 400 years ago that determines character traits and realities today either side of the cause and effect could stir up binary emotional response depending on the depth of understanding ...each individual has to effectively discuss each issue through intelligent dialogue. Some see the injustices of the past as necessary evils in order to function effectively in today's world society, while others see these same injustices as insidious crimes against humanity worthy of the ultimate punishment and/or substantial and various means of compensation to those whom it infringed upon. The utility of the alter-ego on the other hand, one liberated from such a paradox, would be able to logically reason a balance for this duality at the fulcrum of the spirit; it is a kind of persona suit that one could take on and off in order to remain neutral to the duality beyond the triggers of the binary emotional responses to see the vision of transformation and reform.

Yet, does this alter-ego, when gone unbalanced, have the potential to fall victim to the paradox simply because of human nature when not worn properly; therefore, a celestial consciousness of ascended being as the alter- ego of the human one must be used in order to rationally view both the potential binary emotional responses as well as the paradox of duality (cause and effect) to efficiently determine the best logical liberated thought outcome.

Discussing the injustices of the past to effect change cannot be done inside of the paradox of duality for there are innumerable binary emotional trigger responses that will leave the human spirit unbalanced; it can only be done with an alter-ego, (one that does not seek the sustenance of human emotion to survive) a higher consciousness that fuels the human spirit with purpose throughout all space and time...This "Persona Suit" or "Alter-Ego" that is worn best is none other than Knowledge Of Self. It is the quintessential element and garment to be worn, for all successful conflict resolution in human existence.

i have stepped out of the doorway into the infinite halls of heaven. Out on the antakarana i have seen my reflection in the diamond sutra of shambhalla; Intentionally i tread the waters poured from the water bearers buckets. Balanced in the scales, my heart is no longer heavy; shaped in fire i sound the horn of the celestial ram.

Dancing with desert dragons my art has been crafted in the tantric aethers. The twins are awakened in the salutations of eternity. As i swim further upstream, the fountain of wisdom flows near the tree of life that bears the fruit of innerstanding. The reeds sing, and the fife is in choral harmony; the trumpets sound and the drums call the cadence of Divine order. i bow to the four corners of the Kosmos, i smile as bright as 10,000 morning stars.

Art is the desert of creativity; once you add water to it, the water of inspiration, you may discover many treasures from the oasis of the mind; yet as the winds of change and the heat of hegemony burns in the hearts of tyrants can it fade into the abyss of knowledge as vast as the oceans of the kosmoverse.

The Inner Indigo Of Sound

Music as a social paradigm has no color lines, only the colors of the thoughts of sound; it is the spiritual adhesive that maintains basilar cohesion, relative to the tone intelligence of the listener. To The Adept A good listener "here's" what is to be said through the fabric of thought by sound vibrations. For the apprentice, however, to merely strike a chord succinctly enharmonized is only just the beginning of a glorious journey through intrascalar, hyper-harmonic, alternating, spirillian, azimuths.

Being a musician is like being a sculpture of fine art; being a musical explorer is moor of being a navigator across the corridors of the KOSMOS to see the abstraction of sounds splatched in colors of random hues from the palette of a trillion super nova suns onto the canvas of all dark matter.

You can tell one's mind by the music they listen to; you can tell one's heart by the music they create, and vice versa...Ase

Ephemeresis

The ephemeral state of existence in this realm warrants an ever exploratory attitude.

We have our maps to guide us on our way, whether it be the subatomic temporates of feeling, or the intra-celestial quantum KOSMOS of thought, we can never really get lost; though the sea is vast we set sail anew each day with a different destination in mind, and although it seems we arrive at the same location (some of us) each night, perception is relative to our focus and innerstanding.

In the sometimes quagmire of causation, we search more often for the why's than the why nots, because we fear the unknown. As it relates to personal development however, if you don't know you will always question (and i'll leave the ambiguity there for the feast of imagination).

Embrace the parallels to transcend causation; feed your desires the emptiness of vibration and resonate in the frequency of the fulcrum of the balance and the scales will never burden your heart.

Roots

It is very interesting to trace our roots as far as our core ideas as adults to see how, what, and who shaped us into being who we are today; you can go into astrology and astronomy or various other subject matters to get to the root but the surface of who we are reflects the root in how we respond to others and interact with the world.

There are a myriad of belief systems in the world that all claim to lead to enlightenment of various sorts whether religious or spiritual, but i believe what matters most is how your parents influenced you at a very impressionable age that still follows you today. I am ever so grateful for my parents because they not only spoke and taught about life and how to live they showed me with a physical example that was real— and the greatest thing you can do to honor your parents whether they left you a good example or not is to enjoy life to the fullest.

As you grow older and develop your own opinions and view of the world and its wonders, you will always reference back to your roots, and whether they were happy or sad we can always find the valuable lesson to be learned. Overall, living in frequency earth (life) is lifetimes of valuable experiences (love) and the more we experience it, the more—hopefully— we will learn from it, to benefit ourselves and all around us. Our Mothers and Fathers planted the seeds...how well has our garden grown?

Emotion Commotion

What is emotion? Emotion is just that E-Motion...energy in motion...if not directed and guided this can wreak havoc on our spirit. Women seem (emphasis on seem because I have been amazed) to be more emotional than men some may say but the overall view depends on the orientation of the individual. If one is taught to use logic and reasoning they will utilize these tools to direct and guide their emotions for a more constructive purpose.

Emotion and emotionalism is yet another weapon used by the ego to imbalance your higher self and succumb to the material manifestations of lower consciousness. Yes part of emotions is feelings and desires, but it can be greater both in the negative and positive if controlled or uncontrolled.

It is a creative or destructive force relative to the recipient or the projector. Since it is energy in motion we need to have logic to guide it.

Logic is both inductive and deductive reasoning, or the science that investigates reliable and correctly inferred information. (in form at ion received compared to in form at ion given)

Often times in even general conversation if we are emotional and do not listen to what is being said (inductive reasoning) we fail to have the properly thought out response (deductive reasoning). Keeping in mind that energy is a constant that is never destroyed only transformed, when we engage each other through thought construct or conflict it is important to be aware of where you are in your thought process and use logic to guide the energy for an overall more positive outcome even if you agree to disagree.

words=the sounds of expressed thoughts emotion= energy in motion emotional words=the energetic sound of expressed thoughts in motion logical words=sound of expressed thoughts reasoned (re Sunned) inductively (reflected within self) or deductively (relative to self)

If you combine emotion and logic you can get the overall perspective in a harmonic balance; You get both the feeling and the understanding (energy and meaning).

As we direct our words on a day to day basis these sounds, if amplified or modulated they can either wreak havoc or create heaven and joy in the lives we encounter...innerstanding, however, that logic can be corrupted by the ego as well...you either see the love of God or you ease God out...

For a more balanced relationship with self or others, think about what you feel, why you feel that way how you came to that conclusion, who it will effect, and where you need to go from there with your answer...if you do this—you will innerstand all the emotion commotion.

Nothing New Under The Sun

Knowledge is essential to every aspect of life from the cradle to the grave and beyond; Wisdom is critical to maneuvering through life efficiently with the least amount of drama, stress and hardship; understanding (and innerstanding and overstanding) is tantamount to fitting all the pieces together and making an adequate practical application of all essential parts. When we are young we are more care free and adventurous to explore the universe as it is to discover for ourselves all the exciting things it has to offer...with age we begin to realize the words of the wise one "there is nothing new under the sun"...and time slows down or speeds up depending on whether we remember how to have fun and enjoy every moment or if we lose the light of love and get bored with the repetition of conditioning and programming of the mainframe uploads. With the mountain of ego and ignorance we must overcome in this realm (the real lesson) we can get sidetracked from our ultimate mission—learning to love ourselves.

Going Green

Life happens, and we happen to life.

Family, friends, acquaintances all may focus or distract us from what we are here to do. The bottom line is, when you leave you definitely will be faced with either a job well done or an order to return to complete the goal. For some it takes lifetimes to learn the lesson and for others, perhaps, a seemingly shortened Life or childhood.

The Energy of the ego is like a combustion engine that constantly needs to be fed with "fossil" fuels that deplete the protective atmosphere of our personal "O-Zone" layer of higher self. The remedy to this condition is to "Go Green" and tune our chakras up to the note and keys of personal peace, harmony and tranquility.

In our relationships we may like the fast car, gas guzzlin', rollercoaster rides of adventure we engage on a day to day basis but "going green" may mean a total overhaul in the way we transport thoughts to manifestation from one place to another and get more "fuel efficient" spiritual and social technology to get us further down the path and closer to the destination point on our soul map.

Wherever you are, whatever you are destined to become, make sure it is not totally dependent on others, or for that fact even relative to them at all...because in the end you will only have to answer for yourself, to yourself. Anything you don't like about someone else usually is an indicator of what you don't like about yourself or what you have overcome in the past present life or past life.

Music, Art, and Poetry is the M.A.P. to the S.T.A.R.S. these are the keys to "going green".

If you have not engaged any or all of these crafts you need to in order to get to know yourself better as well as studying yourself in order to know what makes you get more "M.P.G.". When you broaden your perspectives and go for self, you begin to realize and know who your best supporter is and who believes and knows you best: YOU. Here, you are your own worst and best critic, and for that matter everyone and everything else is irrelevant as long as you don't depend on those same “fossil fuels” that guarantee your “ozone” depletion over time.

Music is the universal language that harmonically converges spirit, mind, and body. It can heal, build, and destroy; it is a celestial gift we all possess deep within that in some cases needs to be mined from the deepest depths of our psyche, brought to the surface and refined to serve a purpose of higher destiny, for the good of ourselves and humanity.

“Music is the sound of the man that makes up his mind.”

Art is our gift from the God to display in this realm the astral canvases of thought that portrays how we see the world, in a definitive construct or the compassion of the random abstract. This allows us to review the soul matrix imprint left on our psyches over aeons of time so that we may be able to review and pass all tests from journeys past, present and future...these pictures of the mind crafted by hand help us to peer into the divine scheme of self and the universe to travel more efficiently and/ or work out the math of anything.

“From your picture of a thousand words there are a thousand worlds that form.”

Poetry is the art of wordsmithing. It is an art form of painting pictures with words. It can speak into existence the life of love or the dreadful depths of depression and death. When skillfully crafted poetry can be as melodic as the most heavenly song, as visual as the most masterfully crafted painting on life's canvas, and as sweet as God's words that were spoken to birth the universe. If you've never tried it, take your thoughts, paint a picture with your words, write it down, Rite it up, and say it out loud...when you hear it for yourself...you'll be able to work it all out.

“when you write down you rite it all around; when you say it out loud the blessings or curses come down”

Evolution has brought us full circle from horseback to jet pack it all depends on how fast you want to get there; time is irrelevant—there is only the compassion of the random abstract—love. Indeed there is nothing new under the sun so “going green” is the path to another one.

Peace Namaste

Kosmic Awareness

Many of the issues facing the Kosmic community today is due to the lack of spirituality. Materialism and ego driven attitudes block the path for this ascension process.

Steeped in religious practices that bind us to this illusion, we have fallen away from our cosmic awareness. In the Khemetic light we were connected to the inter-dimensional fabric of our oneness that called forth from the aethers and the primordial waters all that is; we set in motion time from the light of thought and so began our journey to experience ourselves in the complete extent of all our creation.

With a history that transcends and renders time irrelevant we have found ourselves in this day and age reaching for the compassion of the random abstract to bring us back into balance; meanwhile as the paradigm shifts, our neighborhoods, our families, our communities are being terrorized by the ignorance of ignorance and the lack of knowledge of self in the form of those we have called forth from the wombs of our Queens without the manifest destiny or guidance or cosmic awareness to be beneficial and productive to the collective consciousness of our evolution.

The karmic debts have been escrowed into accounts of tragedy and pain too numerous to mention in one lifetime that we dare not withdraw from any further.

This material plane of existence is educational, yet it should not be the main focus of our endeavors because everything on the physical plane manifest has a spiritual counterpart or origin, so if we want to solve our social ills we must go within... close our eyes...journey beyond this illusion...the ego of the one mind...and find balance in cosmic awareness.

This is not to say that we have to eliminate all negativity- if we truly understand the concepts-because there is the balance of both when you consider the duality of this realm and its spiritual lessons; instead we must re-learn the laws of the universe after unlearning our obsession with the underworld temptations.

Because of our ignorance various entities have run amuck feasting on our spiritual and psychic vertigo like a smorgasbord of mayhem within the God-consciousness; so we wake up to news flashes of teenagers raping elderly women and the young dancing with wolves in the streets.

We must re-teach ourselves the laws we have set in motion as the balance in the scales in order to come again unto peace.

There are many laws but they can all be best understood through seven principles to be mastered:

I. All is Law

II. As Above, So Below

III. All is in Vibration

IV. Everything Flows

V. All is Mind

VI. Everything is Dual

VII. Everything has Masculine and Feminine Nature

With this understanding we can move into energy cultivation so that we can channel it in the proper directions for ascension purposes of the collective consciousness evolution and cosmic awareness.

Ultimately, however, we are all sovereign souls responsible for ourselves so the lesson must be first re-learned by the individual in order to plug back in to the collective as a productive element.

A Moment Of Bliss

Take time to enjoy the moment...A lifetime can exist within the few minutes you let pass you by...Learn to pay attention to the details: the lines, the brushstrokes, the colors, the mediums, the sounds, the music, the flavors, the feeling.

The details are what capture the uniqueness and quality of what is being said in the design...the nature of the thought determines the matrix of the paradigm...

when we rush through life impatient and void of an attention span necessary to grasp the bliss of infinity, time becomes a prison and we see only its limits; but where there is an investment made into this bliss, time becomes irrelevant and what really matters is all that transpires and transitions us from moment to moment, hour after hour.

In the old adage "haste makes waste" we see the truth in Ghandi's words : "there is more to life than increasing its speed."

We should not, however, enjoy the moment to cash out our egos for self serving benefit, but more so to enjoy the emptiness of the moment as it becomes filled with that mystical phenomenon of universal unfolding called Love.

Love is in fact the very fabric and energy that created the vastness of the Kosmos—whether viewed in the allegory of six days or the science of trillions of years—it all took time, and if the Creator took time to make it, enjoyed it and saw fit to create us to be beneficiaries of this Glory, then the least we can do is surrender to this bliss and embrace it in the fullness of time unfolding each moment.

A moment of Bliss
is a lifetime of happiness you may not want to miss embrace each moment as if it was your very first kiss
as the universe unfolds hold each other close and never let go
The Love Supreme is the Bond that links your souls
when we love
we should love freely to be liberated into peace and harmony through the painful darkness of misunderstanding to the tranquil light of coming forth by day

peaceful nights

peaceful days

no worries

no troubles

come

whatever may

...Pay attention for a moment...and you may receive...a lifetime of joy...

Travelers

We journey beyond the ego to the enlightenment of Kosmic humanity, upstream to spawn vision, referring dreams to celestial manifestation, peace spirits and the dawn of new suns. Millenniums of worlds beyond the sight of abysmal gods, we walk in the chakric luminescence of the rainbow bridge shifting between emotion, logic and reason—navigating the ego—we appeal to this monadic construct of our essence to grasp the true reality of all there is.

In the Mantric mode where time is irrelevant, we realize that the compassion of this random abstract is living, organic, vibrational energy from lifetimes of valuable experiences; so, here, now, as a muse of celestial scribes, divine maestros, and cosmic artists we scroll wisdom on the hearts of humanity, play symphonies into the winds of change, and paint variable destinies on the infinite canvas to remind us that all we need to do is smile and enjoy the moment of bliss knowing that we exist because Love is Supreme....join hands with us...excel...ascend...be free...be at peace...
